Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, line 12, there is no antecedent basis for "said channel". If the applicant is referring to the "T-shaped channels" claimed in line 6, it needs to be clearly stated.

Regarding claim 1, line 14, it is unclear what a "straddle angle" is.

Regarding claim 3, line 2, it is unclear what the applicant means by "structurally exclusively".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crafoord (US 3,502,222). Crafoord discloses a blank panel comprised of a mating structure (22) and at least two face plates (14a, 14b) separably combined along a break-off groove (16) extending between two opposing surfaces (end surfaces of 14a, 14b), wherein at least one the face plates has two contact faces (perimetral sides perpendicular to opposing side surfaces) separated by reinforcement ribs (ribs between channels), and wherein at least of the face plates has two T-shaped channels (18,20) inwardly extending from the opposing side surfaces able to slidably receive the mating structure, wherein the mating structure is part of a fastener having two laterally resilient straddle leg protrusions (legs off 22 as best seen in figure 2), extending symmetrically with respect to an axis of the fastener and perpendicular with respect to the contact face, wherein the protrusion is inserted into an orifice (18), the face plates further comprising position indicators (346) arranged parallel to a plane of the contact faces (figure 5), the break-off groove being of a lesser thickness (figure 2) than that of the two face plates and includes leveraging faces (16a, 16b) created at an angle and oppositely positioned.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the remaining claims has been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Chen et al. (US 6,102,501), Schlemmer (US 5,450,285) and Vackar (US 6,317,348) all teach key features of the applicant's claimed invention.
